

Cheryl Exley Receives Theta Tau Award

By Ronald Crane

Theta Tau's banquet on Wednesday night, May 25, at Ballard's Isle, was a tremendous success. Cocktails were served to the early comers in the Corinthian Room from seven o'clock to eight. At the dinner, scheduled for 8:30 in the banquet room, Dean Mercier said grace. After dinner had ended, the awards for the night were given.

President Anthony Celluzza presented an engraved gavel to past president (September, '59 to February, '60) Gretchen Arnold for her fine work for the society. Dean Mercier was then asked by President Celluzza to speak. The Dean gave a welcoming speech to the eighty-five people attending the banquet.

The award of the night was presented by President Celluzza to Miss Cheryl Exley. Miss Exley was picked by the faculty and class representatives as the outstanding senior of the year. This was the first time that this award has been made. Miss Exley accepted the award gracefully and thanked the faculty and her classmates.

President Celluzza then gave the floor to the next president, Miss Payette who in turn presented President Celluzza with an engraved gavel. Miss Payette then gave a speech emphasizing cooperation and the benefits to teacher training students who are members of Theta Tau. Miss Payette then presented the other newly elected officers of Theta Tau.

After the awards and speeches were given, every one adjourned to the Corinthian Room for dancing, music, and cocktails.

Cheryl Exley

Miss Cheryl Exley lives in Johnston but is a native of Providence. She was graduated from Mount Pleasant High School in 1956, and in the fall of '56 she came to Bryant as a teacher-training student.

While at Bryant, Miss Exley has served as chaplain for Delta Sigma Chi, and Vice President and Corresponding Secretary for Theta Tau. She is a member of the Key and has won the Bryant College Award for her shorthand and typing abilities.

Last semester Miss Exley went to Mount Pleasant High School as a student-teacher. After graduation this spring she is going to teach shorthand, typing, bookkeeping, and business math at the Foster-Glocester Regional Junior-Senior High School.

Just Keep Plugging . . .

In a city not too far from exciting, intriguing Cape Cod there is a small college whose students are composed of people from all walks of life, and of all age groups. There are Mathew Witherspoon III's and there are Mary Doe's enrolled in this college. Some of the students are more mature and well-balanced than others; some of them are younger and not quite so mature. It has always been this way.

One summer not so long ago a great, all-engulfing wave of Spring Fever swept over the little college. Homework assignments lagged, class participation suffered, and class cut-lists grew to unprecedented proportions. You see, Spring Fever is a contagious thing. It can gain a foot-hold in certain groups without the slightest warning.

All students of the college were struck by the mild affliction, with but one exception. Sue Brown was just an ordinary college student from an ordinary town. She did ordinary work in school and received ordinary grades for her efforts, for the most part. While some of her fellow students did superior work sometimes and mediocre or even poor work other times, Sue Brown worked steadily on.

Then, without warning, Commencement time was upon the college, and many of the "attendeess" of the college found themselves members of the regular audience on graduation day—but not Sue Brown. In fact, Sue Brown graduated cum laude.

Scholastic excellence is a commendable thing; students who achieve this excellence are enviable. Rome, however, was not conquered in a day; and by the same token, a superior record of achievement in college cannot be accomplished by a single surge of effort—nor by a series of surges.

Business and Economic Conditions

By Russ Bland

Current Conditions.

Spring, with the usual increase in construction, an increase in the flow of new orders, and an increase in employment, has brought overall economic conditions to many new record highs. In April employment shot up 1½ million, unemployment dropped ½ million. The overall output of goods and services has reached the magic figure of one-half trillion dollars. Aggregate output, in the last quarter in the nation's history. Easter sales broke a record. (Up 11 per cent over last year.) New car sales zoomed up to 23,000 per day in mid-April. (15% over last year.)

From the above we can see that our economic future appears optimistic, but there is a counterbalance to this picture . . . steel and its products. The steel mills have cut back their production from 93 per cent capacity to 78 per cent. The production of automobiles has been reduced along with the reduction of other steel products.

In the last quarter of 1959 the experts predicted that the inventory building boom would stop before mid-year of 1960, and conditions would depreciate accordingly. This will not be so. The rate of accumulation of inventories is conservative, and there will be considerable expansion in expenditures for plant and equipment. These two main factors will keep the economy bolstered for some months. Planned business investment in capital goods will increase by 16 percent in 1960. This means a record expenditure of $37.9 billion. On the whole the experts' predictions are for new highs in corporate profits. (We shall see how the predictions work out.) It is evident that management has a great deal of confidence in the near future.

A NOTE OF WARNING:

The United States is now exposed to a drain of funds and gold reserves out of the country. The European currencies have become much stronger of late. Because our money is cheaper over here, money is simply going abroad where the rates of return are much better.

Also, the U. S. should not ignore the following facts: (1) We are having a hard time competing with prices of similar goods abroad, especially capital goods, machinery, etc. (2) Our interest rates are not co-ordinated with those of foreign markets. (3) We have to preserve confidence in our money in the eyes of others.

FUTURE NEEDS.

We cannot carry cheap money to extremes any longer, and we cannot let Government printing increase abnormally. Let's not open the floodgates of inflation again! This may sound like a Republican plank, but facts are facts—we need continuing economic conservatism.

(Compiled from the First National City Bank of New York monthly letter and U. S. News & World Report.)

British Army Vet Enrolled as Freshman

By Charles Gillis

There are many veterans here at Bryant. Only one, however, is a veteran of the British Army. With his cane by his side, this young man can be seen regularly on campus, fair weather or not. Born in London, England, but now a resident of North Kingston, Rhode Island, Arthur P. Brown is quite a familiar person around Bryant these days. Although he is known only as another freshman, he has had prior education and much experience in the field of business.

At the early age of four years, Mr. Brown began his education in Northern Ireland's National Board School in Belfast. This school, considered as being a public school in Great Britain, would be called a private school in the United States because of its tuition fee. After eleven years, Mr. Brown completed his primary and secondary schooling and went on to Belfast College of Technology. There he obtained Royal Society of Arts and Ministry of Education diplomas in commerce, which are comparable to those given for business administration in this country.

Mr. Brown then went on to work for two years as an apprentice estate agent and auctioneer. Among his duties there were bookkeeping and the selling of real estate.

Having enlisted in the British Army in 1939, he served in France and then in England during the Battle of Britain as a sergeant in charge of an anti-aircraft radar detachment. Mr. Brown was then appointed to the Royal Artillery Officer Training School. He completed this school and was granted a commission as second lieutenant in 1942. He was then attached to the Indian Army where he attended courses in logistics. While in India, he learned its language (Urdu), and then acted as an interpreter. Mr. Brown was promoted to captain while in India, and later promoted to major on his return to the British Army in 1945.

Wedding ceremonies were held in India for second lieutenant Brown and his wife, a first lieutenant in the British Army Nurse Service.

After his discharge from the service in 1948, he was employed as store manager of one of the largest shoe stores in the British Isles. In 1949, Mr. Brown, with wife and son, emigrated to the U. S. A cousin of Mr. Brown's in Davisville, R. I., acted as his sponsor. With this trip to North America, Mr. Brown can boast of having visited every continent in the world.

Hails from Pakistan Bryant Student Speaks Five Languages

By Ray Pezzi and Jim Gallagher

Many have noticed the quiet foreign student who is constantly at work in the College library. His name is Naim Matabdin and he is a native of Karachi, Pakistan, who is attending Bryant College on a two and one half years student visa. His home is now in Alexandria, Egypt where his father is a tailor and a merchant. The youngest of four children, he received his education at St. Andrews School formerly operated by the Church of Scotland in Alexandria where he received a general certificate of education in six subjects.

Naim who speaks five languages—Arabic, English, French, Punjabi, and Urdu—is majoring in Accounting and Finance at Bryant. While attending preparatory school, Naim not only held the position of secretary of his class but also was active in basketball and table tennis. When asked what he thought of the United States, he said, "I think I like it; however, when I first arrived in February, I could not get accustomed to the cold because in Egypt the temperature never goes below 50°."

He also said he found the students of Bryant College very warm and friendly. One of his favorite pastimes is watching television which has not yet been introduced into his native Pakistan.

Upon graduation, Naim plans to return to Pakistan and go to work for his uncle who operates a large transportation service in Pakistan.

While working as an assistant manager in a department store in East Greenwich, R. I., Mr. Brown suffered an unfortunate accident which caused a partial amputation of his right leg in February, 1958. This misfortune caused the termination of his employment at the store.

Mr. Harry Steele, who works as a rehabilitation counselor for the state of R. I., got in touch with Mr. Brown and encouraged him to take the aptitude tests necessary to receive aid from the state to go back to school. With financial aid from the state and also from his wife who is employed at Quonset Point, Mr. Brown now intends to study accounting at Bryant, and after graduation, he hopes to open a bookkeeping office in South County, R. I.

Mr. Brown, now a naturalized citizen, plans to take his wife and two sons, aged 14 and 8, for a vacation this summer to Ireland. This trip will be their first return to the British Isles in over 11 years.

Why Not Share Your Feelings?

By Sully

Do you ever show your emotions? Do you ever share your feelings of grief or joy with anyone else? If you don't, you are missing one of the most reassuring things in life.

The people of today are fearful of showing any emotion whatsoever. People seem to think that they will be considered old-fashioned or out of place if they let their emotions crack their shell of security. This sort of attitude can be as dangerous to a person as cancer. Emotions are an outlet for built up tensions and should not be denied the right to reduce these tensions.

If you were to fill a tub with water and not remove the plug, the tub could not drain. The water would remain in the tub until it evaporated, or until the plug rotted and gave way to the pressure.

A person and his emotions are similar to the tub of water. If a person does not express his emotions, he is putting in the plug that will fill him with tensions. These tensions, like water, will disappear in time, but more than likely the plug will give way before the emotions are gone. When the plug gives way, so does the person. In other words, the person breaks.

In summation, don't be afraid to express your feelings or emotions to another, for you are only hurting yourself.

BRYANT COLLEGE SPORTS

FROM WHERE WE SIT

By Jim Baker and Sully

Let us begin with a prayer for the Red Sox. They need it.

It looks like the Baltimore "Babies" have grown up in the last few weeks. Their pitching and errorless fielding have brought them to the top. They should start breaking their new teeth soon, and will drop down a bit.

Washington has a very impressive heavy-wood lineup, and also the leagues' best pitcher. Just what is it that the Senators don't have?

The Yanks have been playing some pretty fair ball, but they will have to go some to beat the Windy City brigade and the Cleveland.

A fat but fast Arthim Moore pulverized Willie Besmanoff last week in a nontitle fight. Moore was definitely out of condition for this fight. If he is still out of condition in July, Schoppner could, and might, pulverize him.

Hopes look thin for the American contestants in the British Amateur Golf Tournament. Going into the quarter-finals all but one of the Americans have been eliminated. Let's hope the Open stays in our hands.

Italy's Orlando Siroia defeated Barry MacKay in the French International Tennis Championship. What has happened to all of our good netsmen?

Just a thought: Have you seen any games at the Gano Street softball field? They have a real tribe of lris playing. Only 25¢ for two games. It is worth it.

What's Happening in the Sport of Kings

By J. A. Tzitzouris

With the start of the racing season at many of the larger tracks, the number of four-legged hayburners being bedded down has continually increased. Recently, at a west coast track there were close to 2,000 horses stabled and eligible to race although the track only ran eight races a day for five days a week. This sort of problem has been happening to tracks all over the country.

Not all of these horses will get the chance to race; many of them will have to spend the entire meeting in the stables. Unfortunately, the horses that stay in the stables are usually the better class of race horse.

The larger and wealthier stables, although they have some fine horses, have their share of fugitives from the glue factory. These fugitives are not brought along for the purpose of winning purses; they are brought along in the hope that they may be disposed of in a claiming race. As a result, the tracks are flooded with the cheaper class of race horse; and its very seldom we get to see the better class.

Horse racing is an enjoyable sport to watch, especially with thoroughbreds like Venetian Way—driving to the finish in the Derby—and Bally Ache—battling back in the Preakness.

Phi Sigma Nu Takes Commanding Lead in Softball League

Phi Sig, led by Gus Sunason, Jimmie Egan, and Gus Guiffre and a latecomer, Rocky Nero, with the stellar play of Joe Neri, stands on top of the mountain at the half way mark. Phi Sig topped TE last week and as a result should stay on top for the remainder of the season.

Reason for success—a well balanced club. TE has a well rounded club but is definitely lacking a pitching department. Frank "The Tank" Manzi are the reasons for the second place spot. Chi Gam, tied with TE for second, looks like the one team that might top Phi Sig.

As we round out the remainder of the league Beta Sig in fourth place has one of the best pitchers in the league in Art Almeida but is lacking in the hitting department.

BIB needs the control of Ronnie Mosca.

KT needs Bob Kendrot (The Flash) in center field where he played the early games.

Phi Sig Team Now On Top

By Jack Loughran

After coming through "Help Week" with flying colors, Phi Sig's ten pledges will receive their second degree of pledging on Tuesday, May 31. The third and final degree will be received at the annual fraternity Pledge Banquet on June 21. The following are the pledges: Rick Anderson, Bill Barker, Jack Campbell, Asif Joh, Dave Johnson, John Luciani, Charles McDevitt, Joe Neri, Bob Paulhus, and Ron Veresko.

Phi Sig and Sigma Iota Chi are looking forward to another wonderful Alumni weekend. The Alumni Association of the fraternity and sorority have arranged a full schedule of parties and picnics for the entire week end.

The power-packed Phi Sig softball squad has a fine 6.0 record and remains the only undefeated team in the league.

After downing T. E. and A. O. X., Phi Sig is definitely recognized as the team to beat. The sideliners have been packed with Brothers and Sisters to cheer on the Green and Gold. This tremendous support is certainly appreciated by the team and seems to spark them on to victory.

BIB Stands in Middle Of Softball Race

By Charlie Terraff and Don Stapon

After getting off to a good start in softball, BIB's record now stands about even. A few losses in close games have left BIB in the middle of the league standings. However, chances still look good for the determined BIB players who should finish in the top division of the league.

BIB started the season off by overcoming Beta Sigma Chi. The BIB team suffered a narrow defeat to KT in a high scoring game with a final score of 14 to 13. Good hitting was displayed by Ron Mosca, Buddy Sutter, Paul Lockwood, and other members of the BIB team. Coach Vinnie Marcantonio brought Phil Perlman in from the field in the late innings in relief of the starter, Ron Mosca. However, due to the time limitation, BIB was unable to score in the last innings and come from behind. Losses also went to Phi Sig, and Tau Epsilon. A game between BIB and Sigma Lambda Pi was forfeited by Sigma Lambda.

There are three brothers of BIB bowling in the new Ten Pin League. They are Tom Speedling, John Consoline, and Don Stapon. Presently they are in first position. The league offers much competition, and it will be a close run for the title.

Time to Get That Boat Into the Water

By Alan Cohen

Now that summer is here, many sailboat owners are busy preparing their boats for the coming months of fun and enjoyment with the world's finest summer sport, sailing.

Before you start sailing, your boat must be in perfect condition. Here are some hints for preparing your boat before launching it into the water. Remove all seam caulking that has cracked or rotted away. Recaulk the big seams with caulking cotton or cotton wicking. Don't force the caulking too hard or you will strain the seams when the boat swells up in the water. The caulking should not be seam-high. Leave enough room for seam compound or white lead to be placed over the cotton. Many seams will only need new compound. It is better to caulk the seams from the outside of the boat.

You should scrape and paint your boat every year. Don't let too many coats of paint collect on the topsides or bottom, as the paint will eventually crack and flake off, leaving a rough surface. It is wise to remove the paint down to the wood every other year, by either burning or scraping the paint. Use a good brand of paint remover before you scrape. Don't put the paint remover over too large an area at a time. Let it dry until the paint wrinkles. Then scrape.

After all the paint has been removed, sand the whole boat, first with medium, then fine sandpaper. It is important that the boat be smooth before the paint is applied. Paint the topsides with at least two coats of the best paint you can afford. Paint the bottom with two coats of a good grade of anti-fouling paint. If your boat has an iron keel, paint it with red lead before applying bottom paint to keep the keel from rusting. Never paint or varnish when the sun is baking down on your boat.

Tighten all screws and fastenings. If you have to replace any fastenings, use the same metal as before. Make plugs for the drain holes of your boat out of soft wood and make them of generous length so they are easy to get at. Make new plugs every year. Let your boat swell up for a few days by placing it in the water. Swelling will make sure your boat is water tight.

Before setting up the mast, sand it down and paint or varnish it. Make sure that the mast is not warped. Proper storage during the winter will prevent warping.

Examine your ropes. Open them by twisting them in the opposite direction from the lay of the rope. If the original color is gone from the inside strands, replace them.

Sailing can be fun especially if your boat is in perfect sailing condition. Is yours that way?

League-Leading Phi Sig Posts 5th Straight, Beating TE, 10-3

By Don Sorel

Gus Guiffre went all the way for the fifth time this season, holding TE to seven scattered hits and 3 runs. Phi Sig opened the first inning scoring 6 runs. Settling down in the next 5 innings, TE managed to score 3 while holding Phi Sig scoreless.

Opening up the seventh, Phi Sig's big bats again proved too much as four runs scored making the final tally, 10-3.

If the Green and Gold continues to demonstrate its outstanding playing, it will be the team to beat in the finals.

Income Limitations Raised Under New Veteran Pension Law

Veterans who have previously applied for pension only to be ruled ineligible because their income was too great may now be eligible under the new pension law effective July 1, 1960, John L. Reavey, manager of the Providence VA regional office, said today.

He pointed out that the new law raises the income limitations from $1400 to $1800 annual for a single man and from $2,700 to $3,000 annually if the veteran is married or has a minor child.

A sliding or graduated scale for various income levels below these limits is provided by the new pension law enabling a veteran to collect smaller pension payments if he is ineligible for maximum payment.

Full information as well as assistance in filing new claims or reopening old claims may be obtained at any VA office.

Mr. Reavey suggested that prompt action now would avoid the rush of information seekers who are expected to visit VA offices in May or June, just prior to the effective date of the new law.

Veterans with working wives should be aware that all income of their spouse in excess of $1200 is considered to be available to the veteran by the new pension law that goes into effect July 1, 1960.

Thus the income of a veteran's spouse in excess of the exempted $1200 must be reported as part of the veteran's income.

John L. Reavey, manager of the VA regional office at Providence, R. I., has a staff on duty prepared to explain this point and other questions that may arise concerning choice of the new pension law.

Veterans and dependents now receiving pensions may continue to receive them as at present or, instead, may choose to come under the new pension law. Once this choice is made, Mr. Reavey said, the law provides no way that they may return to the present system of pension payments.

The regional office at 100 Fountain Street, Providence, R. I., the VA Office at 757 Pleasant Street, New Bedford, Mass., and the VA Office at 144 North Main Street, Fall River, Mass., are open five days a week from 8:00 A.M. to 4:30 P.M. and members of the contact office staff will be on hand during these hours to explain any part of the pension program.

The amount of annual income will determine the size of the pension payment or whether or not there will be any pension payment at all under the new law which goes into effect July 1, 1960, John L. Reavey, manager of the Providence Veterans Administration office, said today.

All wages, salaries, profits, interest, and dividends will be considered income. So will retirement pensions, annuities and Social Security payments.

In fact, all money received must be counted as income except these eight classifications:

1. The compensation or pension payments received from the VA.
2. Pensions from private or public relief or welfare sources.
3. Government life insurance payments and payments of service-connected indemnity.
4. Payments by the Armed Forces of the six months' death gratuity.
5. Social Security lump sum death payments.
6. Payments from public or private retirement annuity or endowment plans up to the amount equal to the amount contributed or paid in by the veteran or dependent in order to become eligible for the plan. After contributions have been recovered, all of the pension or annuity is counted as income.
7. Proceeds of life insurance policies.

Delta's Help Week Is Hectic But Fun

By Joann Calderiso

Judy DeLorenzo, pledge mistress, was seen giving orders to Delta's five new pledgees during help week. The new pledgees are Julie Caluro, Ruth Broderick, Louise Banks, Pat Baxter, and Nancy Gardiner. All five girls agreed that it was quite a hectic week, but it was fun and something to be remembered.

These pledgees will officially become sisters on the night of the Pledge Banquet. Plans for the banquet are being made, and it looks as if it will be an exciting evening.

Delta Sig is also preparing for the installation of new officers who will be elected on Tuesday, June 7. These officers will hold office for one school year to coincide with the ruling of the Greek Letter Council.

Gay Hart is the newly elected athletic director. If anyone is interested in playing softball for Delta, contact Gay or any other sister.

Picnic, Last Hillel Event of Semester

By Harry Koenig

With the warm weather approaching, Hillel Foundation had its final get together of the semester at the University of Rhode Island. The event consisted of a picnic and sports.

At the last meeting the President and Rabbi Rosen, Hillel Advisor, wished everyone an enjoyable vacation and expressed the hope that everyone will attend the first open house held on the Bryant campus next semester.

8. The money expended for the burial of the veteran as well as any money expended to pay off his debts may be deducted from income reports.

Under the new pension system, effective July 1, 1960, veterans or dependents cannot waive any part or all of a pension, annuity or endowment in order to qualify for VA pension payments under the income limitations.

Full information on any phase of the pension program may be obtained at the nearest VA office.

Phi Sig Plans Gala Homecoming Weekend

By Don Sorel

Team Leads Softball League

Through the extensive efforts of Dave Souto, Alumni Director of Phi Sig, a great weekend is planned to make the returning brothers remember their days at Bryant.

A welcome-back dance Friday, a party Saturday, and a picnic on Sunday will complete a great weekend which will long be remembered.

It is expected that brothers from as far away as Panama will attend.

Softball

Agile fielding, sharp hitting, and fine pitching have led the green and gold to five straight victories. Sigma Lambda Pi (13-12), Beta Sig (5-2), Kappa Tau (8-6), Beta Iota Beta (11-1), and defending champion, Tau Epsilon (10-3) have fallen before the forces of Phi Sig.

If this excellent playing continues, Phi Sig will be the team to beat in the Play-offs.

Sno' Queen Dance which takes place in the winter semester.

The brothers of Sigma Lambda Pi wish to thank all the brothers and sisters for the hard work preparing for the May Queen Campaign, and especially Margie Itkin for making their efforts worthwhile.

On June 19, the brothers and sisters are planning a picnic at Lincoln Woods.

VA to Discontinue Contact Service

Due to decrease in workload, the assignment of a contact representative is no longer feasible at 331 Hope Street, Mr. John L. Reavey, manager of the VA Regional Office in Providence said today.

This service, however, is available at the 100 Fountain Street office and there is a shuttle bus that runs on the half-hour from Hope Street to Fountain Street to assist those who have no other means of transportation.

Contact representatives assist veterans and other beneficiaries in obtaining information concerning their entitlement under veterans' laws. The Contact Office is open Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

New Pension Law Effective July 1

The new pension law for veterans and their dependents becomes effective July 1, 1960, and all pensioners being placed on the rolls from that date will be governed entirely by its provisions, John L. Reavey, manager of the Veterans Administration office, Providence, said today.

However, those veterans or dependents already receiving pensions may stay under the old law or elect to come under the new. The choice is solely that of the pensioner, Reavey said.

Once a pension recipient elects the new law he or she can never return to the old law. But the pension recipient can delay his selection of the new law for as long as he wishes.

An instruction pamphlet and an election card has been sent by VA to each pensioner. If, after careful study of the pamphlet, the pensioner decides to remain under the old law, the card should not be returned.

If the VA does not receive the card, pension payments will automatically continue under the old law.

However, should a pensioner prefer the new law and want the full advantage of higher payments from the effective date of the law (July 1, 1960), he or she should send the completed card as soon as possible, Reavey said.
